

Advancing the Science on Recovery Community Centers: Seminar Series

Seminar 1

Title:

Rationale and Role of Recovery Community Centers: A Bio-Psycho-Social Perspective

Presenter:

John Kelly, PhD of the Recovery Research Institute

Date:

Friday, November 20, 12:00 EST

Description:

In this 1st seminar of the NIDA-funded seminar series on recovery community centers (RCCs), and how these RCCs can support persons treated with medications for opioid use disorder, Dr. John Kelly is providing an overview of what recovery community centers are. Dr. Kelly will describe a theoretical framework that spells out how RCCs may be able to support recovery using a bio-psycho-social perspective. The goal of laying out this framework is to help stimulate discussion on how RCCs can fill a vital gap to support people in recovery.

Recording:

<https://youtu.be/LaBhlwbHXMA> (part 1) and <https://youtu.be/19AW9OSaMuQ> (part 2).

Slides:

<http://www.recoveryanswers.org/assets/1.-R24-TALK-RCCs-FOR-POSTING-JF-KE...>

Chat Transcript:

For privacy reasons, please email RecoverySeminars@MGH.HARVARD.EDU for a copy of the chat.